

Global Cellular Subscription

Mobile phone subscriptions per 100 people. This number can get over 100 when the average person has more than one subscription to a mobile

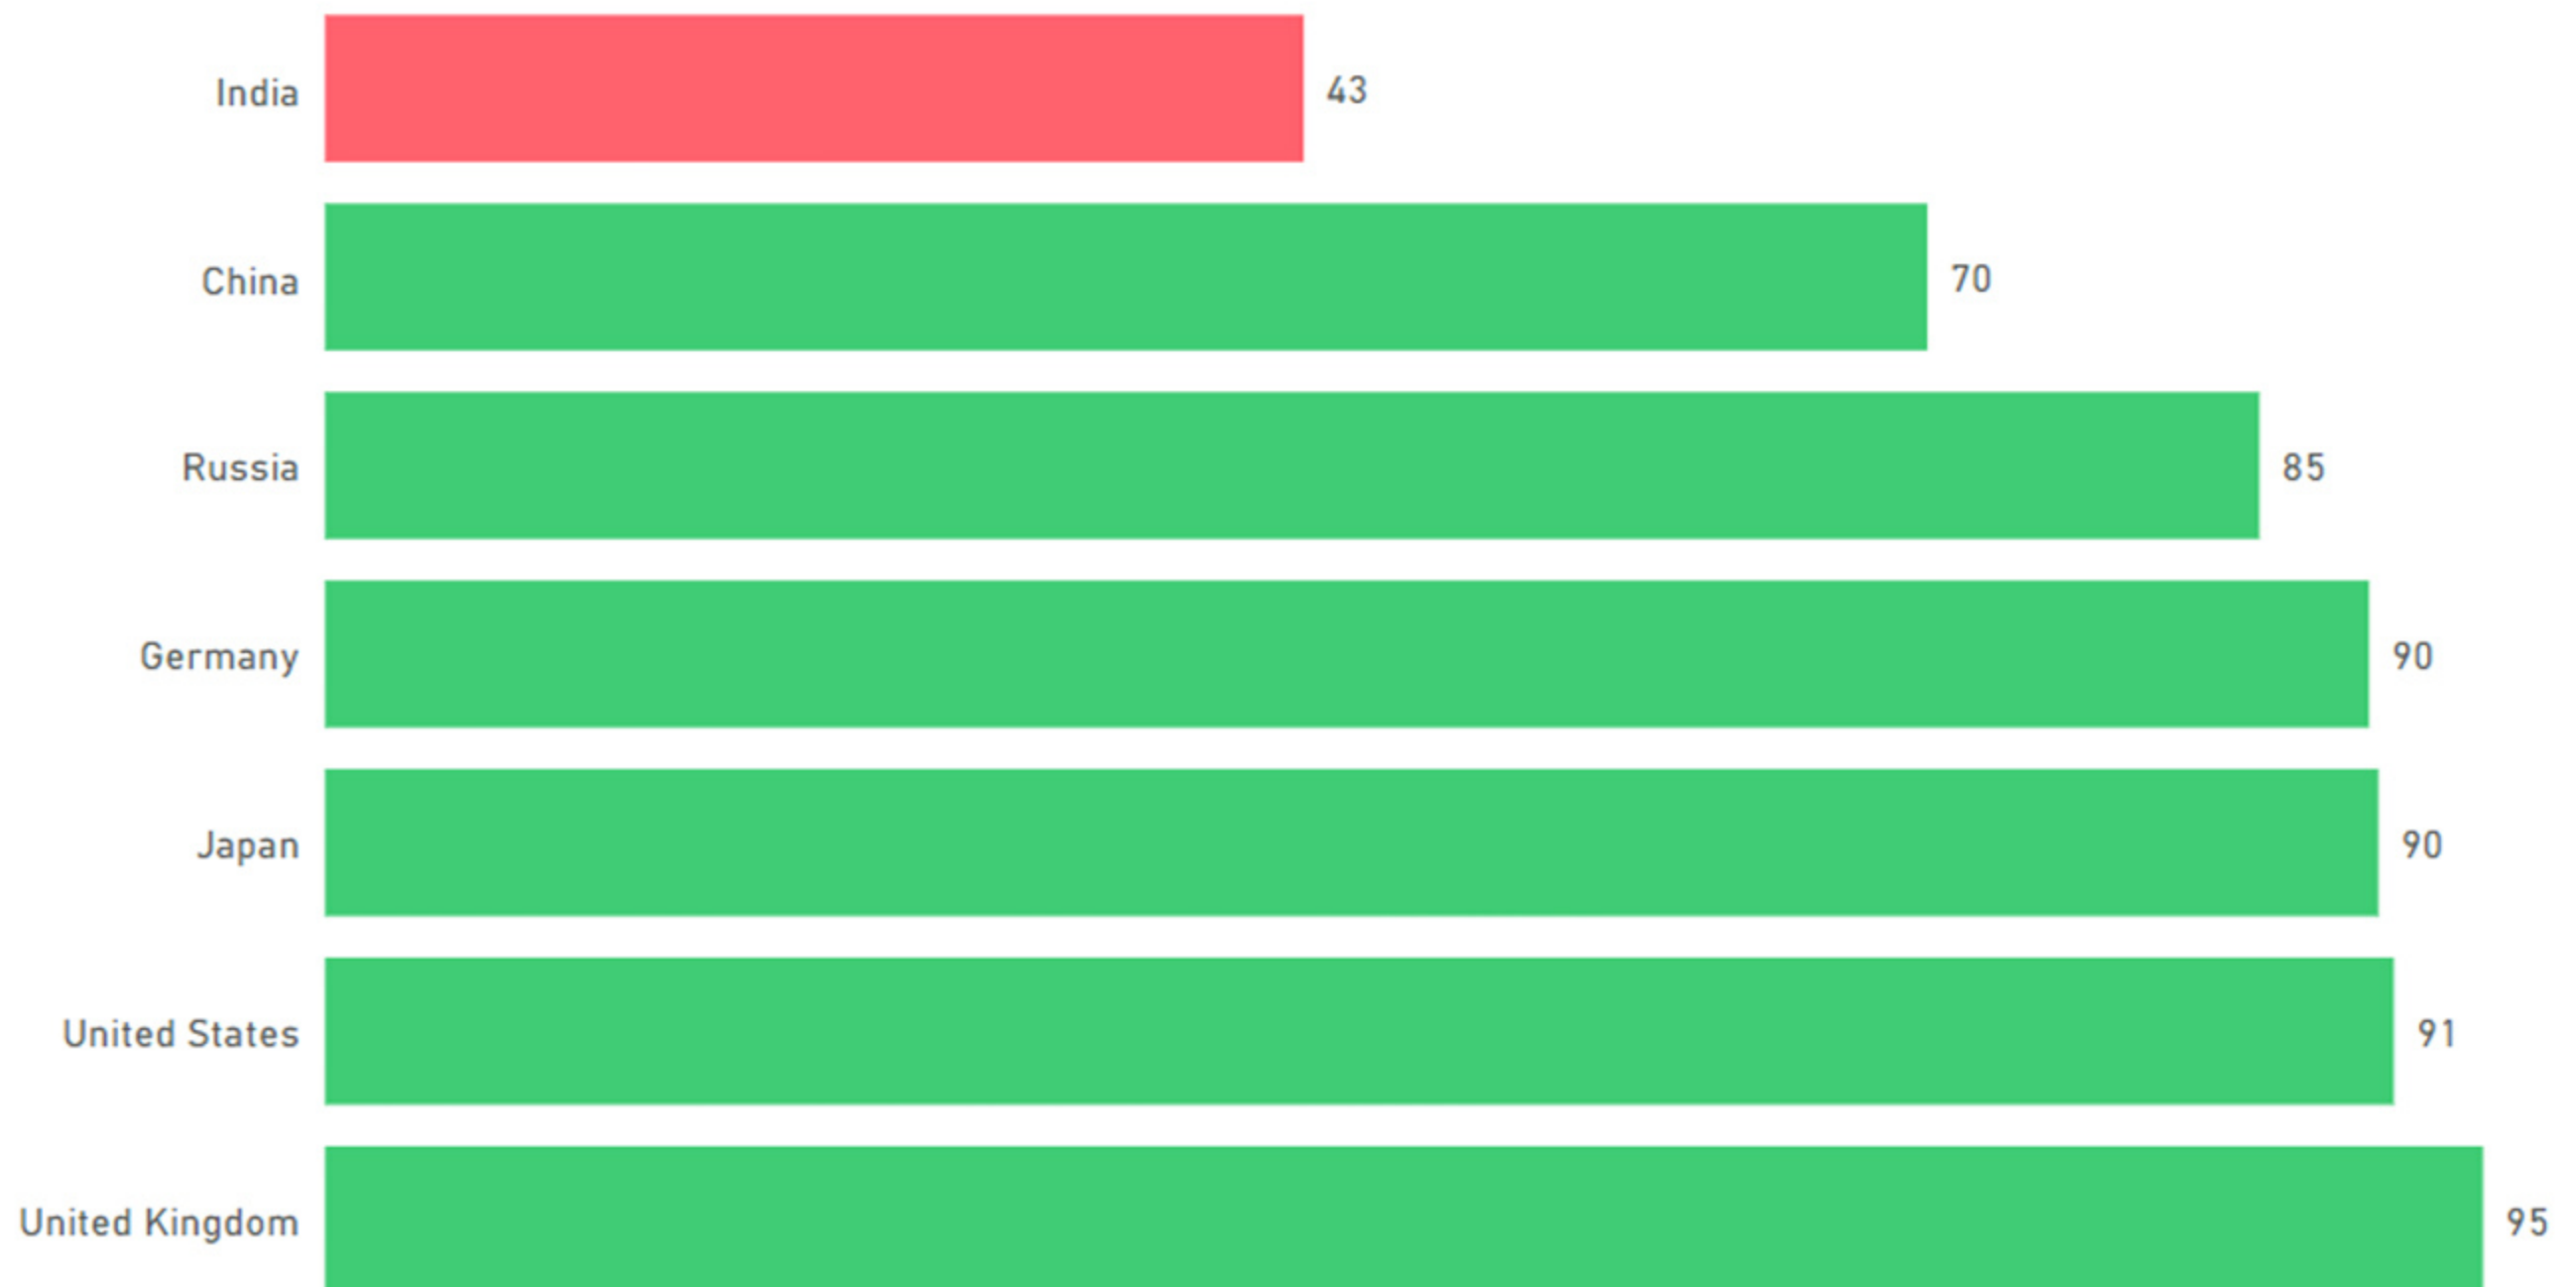

Based on 2020 global data

Thanks to the cheap mobile tariff revolution in India, now 85 out of every 100 people in India have a cellular connection/cellular subscription.

Global Internet Subscription

The share of the population that is accessing the internet for the countries of the world. Internet subscriptions per 100 people

Based on 2020 global data

Despite 85 out of every 100 people having a cellular connection in India, only 43 out of every 100 people have access to the internet. However, this number is growing thanks to cheap internet rates.

Global Internet Subscription

The number of people using the internet varies from country to country, with some having higher numbers than others.

Based on 2020 global data

The actual number of internet users in India is huge. In fact, India has an estimated 687 million internet users in 2021, making it the second-largest internet user population in the world after China.